HFHT is committed to the highest standards of integrity in all fundraising efforts and to the ethical collection, retention and use of information in the pursuit of our organizational goals. To accomplish this, we commit to the following:

- 1) At your request, HFHT will remove you from our mailing list at any time. We will also honor your request to receive only the newsletter and/or one solicitation per year.
- 2) Information collected and stored in our database will not be exchanged with, given to, sold to, or rented to any other organization.

- 4) We must disclose pertinent credit card information to appropriate banking institutions for those persons using credit cards to make donations to HFHT. Credit card information collected by HFHT is used strictly for billing purposes.
- 5) Mailing information on our donors, volunteers, partners and prospects may be given to persons who need such information to provide contracted services (i.e. companies who prepare mailings for us). Once the service is fulfilled, all information is returned to us and not retained by our contractor.
- 6) Site visitorship data is collected on an aggregate, anonymous basis, which means no personal information is associated with this data.
- 7) Please be aware that HFHT's website contains links to other websites and that the privacy practices of these other websites may differ from ours. Each website is responsible for its own privacy practices.
- 8) If HFHT decides to change its privacy policy, we will post the changes on our website as soon as reasonably possible. We will indicate the date of any changes clearly.
